THE INDEPENDENT PERSIAN COMMUNITY JOURNAL

Persian New Yorker

NEW YORK · IRAN · CULTURE · COMMUNITY

VOL. 01 / No. 05

19 October 2026 | ENGLISH EDITION

Autumn, art and the table

Hormuz in the news, collage in Brooklyn and planning a Persian dinner

Photo: Sofreh

IN THIS ISSUE / FOOD & CITY

New York’s autumn comes into focus at neighborhood scale: a table on Saint Marks, a gallery on Willoughby, a chance to make something by hand. Alongside Iran reporting, this issue gathers practical details for those encounters. The cover photograph is from Sofreh, one of eleven businesses in our directory.

IRAN & THE WORLD

Hormuz proposal still on the table

Reuters reported October 18 that Abbas Araqchi said Iran’s offer to reopen Hormuz remains available. The statement is not an agreement or a reopening announcement.

Reuters / gCaptain

ART & COMMUNITY

ANAHITA: from looking to making

Transmitter lists the Anahita’s Oracle collage workshop for Sunday, October 25 at 3 p.m., within Amy Rose Khoshbin’s exhibition curated by Lila Nazemian.

Transmitter

FOOD & CITY

Planning an evening at Sofreh

Sofreh’s official page releases online reservations for up to six people four weeks ahead at midnight. Dinner hours and booking terms were rechecked October 19.

Sofreh

Tables that bring us together

Brooklyn dining and the kitchens behind a celebration

Prospect Heights

Sofreh

Photo: Sofreh

At Sofreh, Nasim Alikhani’s restaurant on Saint Marks Avenue, Persian hospitality meets Brooklyn city life. Its official reservation page releases tables for up to six people online four weeks ahead at midnight. Dinner is listed Tuesday through Sunday, 5:30 to 9:30 p.m.; Monday is closed. Read the cancellation and party size conditions before booking.

75 Saint Marks Avenue, Brooklyn, NY 11217

Official website and current details

Bushwick

Eyval

Photo: Ellen Silverman Photography / Eyval

On Bogart Street, Eyval belongs to a newer chapter of Persian dining in Brooklyn. Chef Ali Saboor, previously of Sofreh, approaches Iranian culinary traditions through a contemporary restaurant setting. The official Eat and Drink pages are the best starting point for its current offering. This is a researched introduction, rather than a review based on an anonymous meal.

25 Bogart Street, Brooklyn, NY 11206

Official website and current details

Flatbush Avenue

Sofreh Cafe

Photo: Sofreh Cafe

Nasim Alikhani’s Sofreh Cafe brings hospitality into the everyday: coffee, chai, pastries and dishes to share. At 216 Flatbush Avenue, the table becomes a place to pause between city errands. The café also lists takeaway and catering. Published hours are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekdays and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekends.

216 Flatbush Avenue, Brooklyn, NY 11217

Official website and current details

New York catering

Nasrin’s Kitchen

Photo: Nasrin’s Kitchen

Nasrin’s Kitchen now emphasizes catering for weddings, corporate events and private dinners on its official website. We list it as a catering business, not a walk in restaurant. Use the official inquiry form to discuss menus, guest numbers and availability for your event.

Catering across New York City

Official website and current details

Four addresses in Manhattan

From Madison Avenue to Chelsea and the Upper East Side

Midtown

Ravagh · Madison Avenue

Photo: Ravagh Restaurants

Ravagh’s Madison Avenue restaurant is one of four addresses currently listed by the business across Manhattan and Long Island. The restaurant describes its cooking in terms of balance and aroma. For readers looking for a Persian meal in Midtown, this is a practical address to know. Use the restaurant’s own site for menus, ordering and opening hours.

173 Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10016

Official website and current details

Upper East Side

Ravagh · Upper East Side

Photo: Ravagh Restaurants

This First Avenue location appears in Ravagh’s official directory. If you are on Manhattan’s east side, use the distance sorting to compare it with the Madison Avenue address. The photograph comes from the Ravagh group and does not necessarily depict this particular branch.

1135 First Avenue, New York, NY 10065

Official website and current details

Chelsea

Shiraz Kitchen · Chelsea

Photo: Shiraz Kitchen

Shiraz Kitchen brings Persian and Mediterranean cooking to West 17th Street. Weekday lunch and weekend brunch offer two ways to make this Chelsea address part of a city outing. The restaurant recommends reservations Thursday through Saturday. Check its own page for the menu and current service details.

111 West 17th Street, New York, NY 10011

Official website and current details

Upper East Side

Persepolis

Photo: Persepolis

Persepolis lists saffron chicken kabob, ghormeh sabzi and vegetarian options among its offerings. The restaurant sits on Second Avenue near the 72nd Street station. For dietary requirements or allergies, confirm individual dishes directly with the restaurant rather than relying on a category label.

1407 Second Avenue, New York, NY 10021

Official website and current details

New York, beyond the city

Westchester and Long Island: addresses outside NYC’s five boroughs

White Plains

Shiraz Kitchen · White Plains

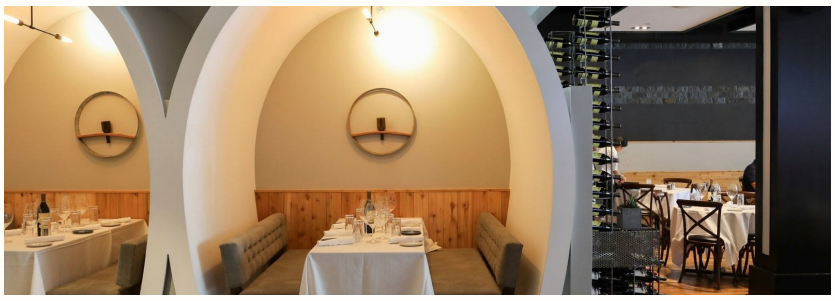

Photo: Shiraz Kitchen

Shiraz Kitchen’s White Plains address is 80 Mamaroneck Avenue in Westchester, outside New York City’s five boroughs. For a gathering north of the city, plan the journey separately. Weekday lunch is listed from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Consult the restaurant’s site for menus and reservations.

80 Mamaroneck Avenue, White Plains, NY 10601

Official website and current details

Roslyn Heights

Ravagh · Roslyn Heights

Photo: Ravagh Restaurants

The Roslyn Heights branch appears on Ravagh’s official location page at Mineola Avenue. It is outside New York City’s five boroughs. The photograph represents Ravagh’s food, rather than this individual branch.

210 Mineola Avenue, Roslyn Heights, NY 11577

Official website and current details

Huntington

Ravagh · Huntington

Photo: Ravagh Restaurants

Huntington is the second Long Island address on Ravagh’s official list. For readers living in the area, discovering a local option can make a Persian dinner possible without a trip into Manhattan. The photograph is from the Ravagh group.

335 Main Street, Huntington, NY 11743

Official website and current details

FROM THE EDITOR

The city we make together

Culture is not only something to observe. It continues in making a collage or gathering at a table. This week we connect the headlines with daily life through precise details: which proposal remains conditional, when a workshop is scheduled, and what a dinner reservation requires. A verification date is not an event date.

OUR METHOD & SOURCES

Text is prepared using the linked sources. Introductions are not reviews based on personal visits. Photos come from official business websites and remain their owners’ property. This week’s sources were checked October 19, 2026; individual listing dates appear on our website. Please confirm hours and reservations before visiting. This publication is not affiliated with The New Yorker.